INDEX.

Agricultural Journal for Ireland, 544.
Anæsthetic Agents. By W. H. Mortimer, 530.
Animal Psychology, Mind and Matter, 347, 349; organized bodies, 350; works of Mr. Couch and Archbishop Whateley, 351; animal instincts, 352, 354; young goat, 355; dogs, 356, 358; communities of animals, 359, 361; birds and insects, 362; signs or language of birds and beasts, 363, 364; friendship and anger of animals, 365; effects of music on animals, 366, 367; instinct a divine gift, 368, 369; examples of instinct, 370, 371, orang-outang, 372; instinct not moral feeling, the lion, 373; in cattle, 374; animals in age, 375; affection for their young, 376; instinct perfect from the birth of animals, 377.
Archæologia Hibernia, 547.
Australia, A Voice from, 242
Baird's, Dr., Protestantism in Italy, 247
Barnes, Albert, Notes on I. Corinthians, 251.
Barrett's, Rev. A. F., Synopsis, 246
Benefit of Christ's Death. By A. Paleario, 252.
Bible, The, Notes and References, 544.
Binney's, T., Service of Song, 257.
Bird's Natural Philosophy, 538.
Birks, Rev. T. R., on the Christian State, 1; a Christian Advocate of National religion, 2; his fundamental maxims, 3, 4; his mode of proof, 5; unsoundness of his theory, 6; paternal rule, 7; Judaism identified with the state, 8; a theocracy, 9; God the lawgiver in Israel, 10; nature of Christ's kingdom, 11; Mr. Birks and Archbishop Whately, 12, 13; Whately's statement of the argument, 14, 15; criticism of Mr. Birks, 16, 17; duty of civil rulers in the church, 18, 19; their profession of religion, 20, 21; of men in all stations, 22, 23; how required by the gospel, 24; social morality the gift of God, 25; Mr. Birks's ground of the magistrate, public profession of religion, 26, 27; its fallacy, 28, 30; its application to irreligious rulers, 31; Romish principles, 32; claims of private conscience, 33; misconception of Mr. Birks, 34; conduct of Henry VIII., 35; views of dissenters as to the church establishment, 36, 37; policy of churchmen and dissenters, 38, 40.
Birks' Letter to Lord John Russell, 544.
Boole's, G., Analysis of Logic, 253
Borneo and the Indian Archipelago. By F. S. Marryat, 261; labours of Sir S. Raffles, 262; of J. Brooke, his enterprises, 263; his views of Borneo, 264; size of the island, its products, 265; its population, 266; character of the people, 267; pirates, 268; their daring courage, 269, 270; their settlements, 271; barbarous customs, 272; war dances, 273; and weapons, 274; religious rites and sports, 275; expedition of Mr. Brooke, 276; his policy, 277; rebellion, and Mr. Brooke made Rajah, 278, 279; his wise policy, 280; his success, 281; overthrow of the pirates, 282, 283; Mr. Brooke appointed English agent at Borneo, 284; cruel treachery of the Sultan avenged, 285; humiliation of the pirates and of the sultan, 286; British possession of Labuan, 287; prosperity under Mr. Brooke, 288; interests of Christianity, 289; volumes of Mr. Low and Mr. Marryat, 290; of Captain Keppel and Captain Mundy, 290, 291.
Brown's Lyrics on Sea and Shore, 254.
——— Ministry of Christ, 534.
Catacombs, Church in the. By Dr. Maitland, 48.
Chalmers, Dr., Works of, 531.
Chemistry, Meteorology, and the Function of Digestion, considered with Natural Theology. By Dr. Prout, 204; chemistry leads to a great Designer, 205; properties of the atmosphere, 206, 207; oxygen gas, 208; nitrogen, 209; its uses, 210; use of oxygen, 211; mutual action of gases, 212; interdiffusiveness of elastic fluids, 213; its universal use, 214, 215; wonderful combinations in the atmosphere, 216, 218; proof of design by a Creator, 219; dark side of nature, 220, 221; pernicious elements, 222, 223; whence physical evils? 224, 225; examples, 226, 228; pain and death, 229, 230; difficult problem, 231; physical evils in various forms, 232, 233; this subject worthy of discussion, 235; a dark reality, 236, 237; relief by the Bible, 238.

Christmas Books and Annuals, 258.
Cleghorn's Ancient and Modern Art, 546.
Clergyman's Sore Throat, 539.
Congregational Independency. By Dr. Wardlaw, 311; 'What saith the Scripture?' 312; importance of the inquiry, 313, 314; conscientiousness in seeking truth, 315; duty to inquire, 316; all Divine truth to be received, 317; obligation to appeal to Scripture, 318; nature of churches, 319; teaching of Scripture, 320; Scripture manner of teaching doctrines and duties, 321; sufficiency of Scripture, 322; apostolic church ordinances binding, 323; objections refuted, 324; Scriptural mode, 325, 326: meaning of the word church, 327; assembly at Antioch, 328; church courts, 329; churches in cities, 330, 331.
Congregational Lecture. By R. W. Hamilton, LL.D., D.D., 105. See Future Punishment.
Craig's Philosophy of Training, 248.
Craik's, H., Translation of Hebrews, 251.
Creasy on Dr. Hampden's Case, 545.
Currency, the Past and Present, 268; Sir Robert Peel's Bill of 1819, a fatal mistake, 169; its evils, 170; Act of 1844, deceptive, 171; caution of the bank directors, 172; state of the bank, 173; origin of the monetary crisis of 1847, 174; contraction of the currency, 175; depression of prices, 176; prices of wheat from 1783 to 1793, 177; prices on the Continent, 178; future importations, 179; compensating measures for the Bill of 1819, 180.
Denison on Todd's Discourses, 541.
Dick's, Dr., Philosophy of Religion, 240.
English Society under James I., 73; high expectations from James, 74; fall of the good Earl of Essex, 75; behaviour and policy of James, 76, 77; character of the Queen and Crown Prince, 78; favourites of the King, 79; court of James, 80; poisoning of Sir T. Overbury, 81; noble qualities of Prince Henry, 82; his enemies, 83, 84; his Protestantism, 85; his illness, 86; his death, and conduct of the King, 87; death of Overbury, 88; confession and trials of several, 89; character of the female aristocracy, 94; court of James, and witchcraft, 95; his favourite Villiers, 96; influence of him and his mother, 97; disorders of the time, 98; almanacs of that period, 99; corrupt manners in this reign, 100; religious ceremonies of this period, 101; death of King James, 104.
Eyre, Jane. An Autobiography, 257.
Fletcher's History of Independency, 537.
Ford's Alarm in Zion, 535.
Fortunio Illustrated, 259.
France, Public Men of, ignorance respecting them, 123; English visitors to Paris, 124; French lawyers, 125; M. Guizot, 126, 127; his marriage, 128; origin of his political life, 129; his early writings, 130; his historical works, 131; his entrance into the French senate, 132; into the ministry, 133; his character as orator, statesman, and politician, 134, 136; M. Thiers, his writings, 137; his political character, 138, 139; M. Molé, his origin, 140; his character, 141; M. Berryer, his character, 142; M. Dupin, his character, 143; M. Odillon Barrot, 144; M. Mauguin, 145; M. Duchatel, 145; Louis Philippe, 146; his talents and character, 147.
French Revolution of 1848, 498; writers previous to the former Revolution, 497; popular spirit, 498, 499; republican sentiments, 500; changes in France, overthrow of the empire, 501; revolution of 1830, Louis Philippe a conspirator, 502; dissatisfaction of the French, 503; republicanism, 504, 505; in the army, 506, 507; efforts for popular liberty, 508; character of Louis Philippe, 509; his policy in Paris, 510; his foreign policy, official corruption, 511; king's speech on opening the chamber, 512; reform banquet, 513; popular tumults, 514, 515; their increase, abdication of the king in favour of the Count de Paris, 516; rejected, a republic proclaimed, 517; character of the people, 518; of the king, 519; of the members of the Provisional Government, 520, 522; condition and prospects of France, 523, 525; policy of England, 526; prospects of Germany, 527.
Fuch's Die Philosophie, Vict. Cousin's, 537.
Future Punishment, Scripture Doctrine of. By H. H. Dobney, 105; controversy on the subject, views of Mr. White and Mr. Dobney, 106, 107; Mr. Foster on the moral argument against it, 108; examination of it, 109; scripture argument, 110, 111; true estimate of the case, 112, 113; controversy on the immortality of the soul, 114; materialism, 115, 116; scripture criticism, 117; sentiments of the Jews, 118, 119; Mr. White's interpretation, 120; views of Dr. Hamilton, 121; character of his lectures, 122.
Genuineness of the Gospel. By Professor Norton, 431; state of the claim, theory of Eichhorn, 423; examination of it, 433; requires learning and judgment, 434; infidels seldom learned, 435, 436; qualifications of Mr. Norton, 437; manuscripts of the Gospels, 438; their agreement, 439; groundless objections of Eichhorn, 440, 443; number of early copies, 443; evident genuineness of three Gospels, 447, 448; impossible to corrupt them, 449; their diversity, yet essential agreement, 450; case of the four Gospels, 451, 452; summary of evidence, 453, 454.

Hamilton's, Mrs., History of Rome, 242.
Harmony of the Gospels, 243.
Henderson, Mrs., Scripture Lessons, 241.
Herschell on the Gentile Dispensation, 537.
Histoire de France, 542.
Historical Contrasts. By F. W. Newman, 257.
Historical Romance. By A. Dumas, 181; character of the author, 182; his defence on a trial, 183; rapid writer, 184; rapidity of Dumas, 185; French taste, 186; Hamlet of Dumas, 187; French manners, 188; character of Dumas' writings, 189; La Regence, Le Chevalier D'Harmental, 190; Sir W. Scott's historical novels, 191; those of Dumas, 193; his dramatic writings, 194; his voyages and novels, 195; worthlessness of them, 196; unprincipled, 197; La Fille du Regent, 198; Gaston, a conspirator at a fête, seeking his victim, 199, 203; merits of Dumas, 204.
Hogg's Weekly Instructor, 542.
Hopkins, Bp., on the Lord's Prayer, 251.
Ideas. By A. C. G. Jobert, 536.
Independency, Fletcher's History of, 255.
Indian Railways, 531.
Industrial Schools, their Origin and Progress in Aberdeen. By A. Thomson, 41; originated by Mr. Sheriff Watson, 42; description of, 43; provisions for, 44; their cost, 45; beneficial operations of, 46, 47; testimonies as to their utility, 48.
Italy, Past and Present. By Le Mariotti, 464; natural life and energy in Italy, 465; ancient Florentine, 466; invaders of Italy, 467; class interest, 468; Leopold, Grand Duke of Tuscany, 469; French Revolution and invasion of Italy, 472; pernicious rule of Austria, 473; Naples and the two Sicilies, 474, 475; independence of Naples, 476; restoration of Ferdinand, 477; Rome, Gioberto, 478; his views, 479; death of Pope Gregory, election of Pius IX., 480; his reforms, 481; reforming spirit in Tuscany, and the other Italian States, 482; reforms in Sicily, Naples, and Sardinia, 483; revolution in France, and declaration of the King of Prussia; fall of Metternich, and revolt through Germany, 485; constitutions in Naples, Tuscany, Piedmont, and Rome, 485—487; popular poetry, 488, 489; condition of the Italian nobles, 490, 491; rising education of Italy, 492; Pope Pius 'an enlightened bigot,' 493; public spirit in Italy, 494.
Jay's Works, 533.
Jenyns's, Rev. L., Natural History, 347. See Animal Psychology.
Keith's Signs of the Times, 534.
Kilchurn Castle, Loch Awe. By J. W. Turner, 259.
Koecker's Diseases of the Jaw, 241.
Labour-Rest. By J. F. Herring, 259.
Lamb, Charles, Works of, 292; his early friends, 293; his appearance, 294; his character, 295, 296; his city tastes, 297; his peculiarities, 298, 299; his love of antiquity, 300; ludicrous, 301, 302; his humour, 303, 304; his kind, loving wit, 305; his parents poor, 306; his mother killed by his insane sister Mary, 307; his devotedness to her, 308; character of his writings, 309; his poems, 310.
Landor, Savagius, Poemata et Inscriptiones, 250.
Lang, Dr., Cooksland and Philipsland, 243.
Lays and Lithographs, 259.
Lewes's, G. H., Works. Ranthorpe, Rose, Blanche, and Violet, 322; case of Annette Meyers, 333, 334; Ranthorpe, 335, 336; ambitious authors, 337; flattered, 338; Rose, Blanche, and Violet, 339; Mrs. Vyner a stepmother, 340; their lovers, 341, 342; Blanche elopes with Cecil, 343, 344; Rose and Violet, 346.
Life-lore, 250.
Lister's, T. M., Essays, 247.
Lowthian's, J., Visit to Jerusalem and Palestine, 252.
Memoirs of Tatham, 537.
Memoirs of Williams of Wern, 541.
Millingen's, Dr., Mind and Matter, 347. See Animal Psychology.
Ministry, the Christian, its importance, 148; contests of preachers and priests, 149; influence and terrors of the priesthood, 150; numbers of Christian ministers, 151; Catholic and Protestant ministers, 152; their qualifications, 153; Catholic and Anglican, 154; nonconformist, 155; relative decline, 156; ministers in Germany, 158; emoluments of the English establishment, 159; payments to dissenting ministers, 160; its deficiency, 161, 162; difficulty of their church government, 163; prospects of the future, 164; sentiments of Mr. James, 165, 166; Revived Ministry, Essays on the Ministry, 167, 168.
Mission to Mysore, 536.
Murphy's, Dr., Latin Grammar, 252.
Napoleon and the Pope, 547.
Neander's Ecclesiastical History, 532.
Nicholl's, Dr., Stellar's Universe, 255.
——— System of the World, 245.
Nitzch's Practical Theology, 239.
Now and Then. By S. Warren, 377; his early literary efforts, 378; his merits as a writer, 380; his faults, 381, 383; his design, 384; "Ten Thousand a Year," 385; vulgarisms, 386; Gammon, 387; objectionable character, 388; beauties, 389; "Now and Then," 390.

Offor's Pilgrim's Progress, 533.
Ogilvie's Sermons at Oxford, 245.
Orator, the Modern, 246.
Parker Society's Publications, 528.
Parsi Religion and Zoroastrians of India and Persia. By J. Wilson, D.D., 49; contents and design of the work, 50; Dr. Wilson's appeal, 54; ancient Persia, 52; origin of the corruption of their religion, 53; Magi and Isabeans, 54; ancient oriental dynasties, 55; account of Zartusht, 56; his pretended celestial visits, 57; his Zenda Vasta, 58; his pretended miracles and triumph, 59; revolutions in Persia, 60; pretended Messiah, 61; Dr. Hyde's religion of the Persians, 62; principles derived from the scripture, 63; apologist for the Parses, 64; their various literary works, 65; testimonies of Dr. Wilson, 68; Guebres, or Fireworshippers, 69; traditions from Christianity, 70; Mr. Faber's researches, 71, 72.
Peile, Dr. T. W., on the Romans, 246.
Philosophy of the Beautiful, 540.
Pictorial Bible, 542.
Pinney on the Causes of Health and Life, 244.
Plea for Peasant Proprietors, 531.
Popular Papers on Natural History, 254.
Potter's Treatise on Mechanics, 531.
——— Optics, 531.
Poughkeepsie Seer, The, 545.
Reason and Revelation, 535.
Religion and Poetry. By R. Montgomery, 251.
Results of German Philosophy, 404; German books read through Europe, 405; character of its literature, 406; German legend, 407; popular works, 408; systems of Kant and Fichte, 409; speculation of Jacobi, 410, 411; Baader, 412; Schelling, 413, 414; his declarations, 415; Morell's estimate, 416; philosophy of Hegel, 417, 418; his obscurity, 419; speculations of Fuerbach, 420, 421; his jargon, 422; paradoxes of Dr. Mises, 423; German and Hindoo speculations identical, 424, 425; those of young Germany, 426; Schelling on their fanaticism, 427; their recklessness, 428; their extravagance, 429; corrective want of our times, 430.
Rome, Claims of, and Unity, 246.
Ruekblicke in mien Leben, 538.
Saint's Tragedy, The, 534.
Saunders, Miss, Life and Letters to. By John Foster, 257.
Schomberg's British Constitution, 541.
Scottish Congregational Magazine, 542.
Searle's, Dr., Philosophy of Life and Health, 253.
Servia, Ranke's History of, 256.
Sketches from the Cross, 534.
Smith's Hints for the Times, 425.
Spearing Salmon, 548.
Stoughton's, Rev. J., Spiritual Heroes, 257.
Stuart, Professor, on the Apocalypse, 250.
Sutton's, H., Evangel of Love, 257.
Sworde's, Rev. T., Exposition of the Articles, 243.
Tattershall's Sermons, 532.
Turner's Notes on Herodotus, 529.
Twiss's Political Economy, 532.
Wahl, Mrs., Training of Girls, 249.
Wandkarke von Alt-Griechenlane, 540.
War with the Saints, 545.
Warwick's, Lady, Memoirs, 252.
Watts's Divine Songs, Illustrated, 256.
Webb's, Mr., Beloved Disciple, 537
Whateley, Abp., on Instinct, 347. See Animal Psychology.
Whewell's, Dr., Sermons at Cambridge, 245.
Williams on the Evangelical Alliance, 535.

T. C. Savill, Printer, 4, Chandos-street, Covent Garden.